Seeks Damages For Injuries

W. C. Peterson, who was working for the Triangle Construction Co. on repair of Route 45 at Barnett street June 30, 1954, when a LaCour truck overturned, seeks $5,000 damages from Cleo LaCour, driver, and B. L. LaCour Jr., truck owner, for injuries.

Peterson's complaint, filed in circuit court by Atty. Trafton Dennis and Atty. DeWitt Twente, says the truck struck him when it left the highway and overturned. He asks $5,000 for injuries received.

A few days ago the LaCours asked $15,000 from the Triangle Construction Co. as a result of the incident. Cleo LaCour asked $10,000 for injuries and B. L. LaCour Jr. asked $5,000 for damage to his tractor and trailer and to the livestock that was in the trailer.

OIL REPORT:

Three New Producers

Taken from the Robertson Tri-State Oil Report

The Delwood Oil Co. of Benton, which had the discovery well in the field west of Galatia, the T. G. Lewis No. 1, brought in the T. G. Lewis No. 4, NWc NW SW, 15-8s-5e (Galatia) the past week with initial production of 450 barrels per day on flow.

The T. G. Lewis No. 4-A, SWc NW SW, 15-8s-5e, was dry and abandoned.

Gulf brought in its Heflin Unit No. 2, NEc SW SW, 10-8s-5e (Galatia), with initial production of 53 barrels of oil and 35 of water per day on pump from the Rosiclar.

Pure Oil, Calvert and Sun went together and drilled the Malone Consolidated No. 1, SEc SW NE, 26-8s-5e (Brushy) and brought in a well that had initial production of 11 barrels of oil and two of water per day on pump from the Aux Vases.

Dry and abandoned were: Fitch's Bond No. 1, NEc NE SW, 20-8s-5e (Brushy); the Eakle and Holder Roy L. Riegel Unit No. 1, NWc NE SW, 3-9s-5e (Brushy); the Indiana Farm Bureau-Portis Ella Moore No. 1, NWc NW NW, 36-8s-6e (Raleigh); Lindsay's Ola Moore et al, SWc SE SE, 2-9s-5e (Brushy); and McConnell's V. E. Hall et al No. 1, NWc NW SW, 25-9s-6e (Harrisburg).

Thousands of Bushels of Wheat Pour Into Harrisburg Elevator

Donald Bramlet and Victor Sutner, Eldorado, Have Yields of 65 and 62 Bushels to Acre

Thousands of bushels of wheat were pouring into the Harrisburg Mill and Elevator this week, where Thursday's run totalled 12,578.74 bushels. At the beginning of the day the price was $1.86 per bushel. It declined four cents during the day.

Friday's run was about the same, and this morning at 8 o'clock 29 truck loads were in line to get on the scales.

More than $24,000 poured into the pockets of the grain growers Thursday as they unloaded their sacks or dumped the wheat from their trucks into the elevator, and they were feeling mighty good over that as was also John Deputy, manager of the mill, and Miss Lucille Lee, who weighed and tested the wheat and had the trucks moving along as fast as possible. Trucks were lined in three directions from the mill entrance, coming from the south and the north and those entering the elevator.

The trucks came from all parts of Saline, Williamson, Johnson and Gallatin and Hardin and Pope counties.

Donald Bramlet, Eldorado, who raised 40 acres of wheat, had the highest yield of the day's run Thursday. He had 65 bushels to the acre. Next highest reported for that day also came from Eldorado, and was raised by Victor Sutner, who had 62 bushels to the acre.

Farmers and truckers delivering wheat for the growers, were well pleased as they counted the yield per acre when the wheat was weighed. More of them had 40 and 45 bushels to the acre, than were over that figure or under.

Some of their names, acreage and yield were listed as follows: Robert Miller, Stonefort, 25 acres, 40 bushels to the acre.

James Moore, Harrisburg Rt. 1, 11 acres, 30 bushels to the acre.

R. M. Murphy, Stonefort, 45 bushels to the acre.

Gus McDonald, Carrier Mills, 45 bushels to the acre.

J. B. Fitts, Carrier Mills, delivering for Lawrence Smith, 11 acres, 45 bushels to the acre.

Alton Baker, 15 acres, Delwood, 32 bushels to the acre.

Virgil Ewell, Rt. 3, Harrisburg, seven acres (not weighed).

Will Schwartz, Rt. 1, Hbg., 10 acres, 55 bushels to the acre.

Maurice Beasley, Wasson, 45 acres, 40 bushels to the acre.

Harry Ray, Pittsburg, Rt. 1, 18 acres, 50 bushels to the acre.

George Oglesby, Rt. 4, 80 acres, Harrisburg, 45 bushels per acre.

Royal Allen, 15 acres, Carrier Mills.

Reuben Taborn, 30 acres, 45 bushels to the acre.

Freeman Towery, Saline Valley, 28 acres, 30 bushels to the acre.

Cal Wiedemann, 48 acres, had a good yield with Knox wheat.

Estes Newell, Creal Springs, 28 acres, not weighed.

William Martin, Rt. 1, Harrisburg, not weighed.

Othner Jackson, Galatia, 30 acres, not weighed.

Marilyn Monroe, Playwright Arthur Miller Wed in Court House Ceremony

ROXBURY, Conn. (AP)—Actress Marilyn Monroe and playwright Arthur Miller began their married life today "happy and tired" in the wooded quiet of the Connecticut countryside.

They had eluded newspapermen and were secretly married Friday evening in a court house ceremony at White Plains, N. Y.

Marilyn, who had said she did not want a "Grace Kelly-type wedding," got what she wanted. The bride, sans makeup, wore a wrinkled black skirt and a pink sweater. The groom was dressed in a blue linen suit, white shirt open at the collar and no tie.

But city Judge Seymour Rabinowitz, who performed the civil ceremony at 7:30 p. m. EDT, said the actress "looked very pretty."

It was the actress' third marriage and Miller's second. She is 30 and he is 40.

They returned to Miller's country home for their wedding night and "a lot of rest."

Only the death in an automobile accident of a titled woman reporter marred the day for the newlyweds.

Princess Mara Scherbatoff, chief of the New York bureau of the Paris France magazine, Match, was pursuing Marilyn and Miller to Friday's news conference when her car smashed into a tree. She died about four hours later in a New Milford, Conn., hospital.

149 Pints of Blood Donated

Residents of Saline county donated 149 pints of blood when the bloodmobile visited Eldorado and Harrisburg on Wednesday and Thursday of last week. Seventy-two pints were collected at Eldorado on Wednesday and on the following day 77 pints were collected in Harrisburg. Eighty-five reported at Eldorado and 13 were unable to give. Ninety-seven reported at Harrisburg and 20 were unable to give at this time.

The Saline County Red Cross chapter, which sponsors the bloodmobile visit, wishes to thank all of those who gave blood and to those who volunteered to give but were unable to do so at this time. The blood donated could be the great gift of life during the Fourth of July holiday. Guy J. Hunter, county blood chairman, states. At the same time the chapter expresses appreciation of the people who worked in recruitment of donors and gave their services and time in other ways.

Historical Group to Meet At Eddyville

At 6:30 p. m. Tuesday, July 3, the Saline County Historical society will hold its regular monthly meeting at the Eddyville school yard. The school may be reached by going down route 145 to Eddyville, turn right at the King service station to the top of the hill.

Playing host is no new role to the people of the Eddyville community. Many are familiar with their hospitality through visits with the Eddyville Scenic Sites Ass'n.

The program for Tuesday evening will begin with a potluck supper with the members of the historical society and those of the community sharing fellowship. After the meal an interesting musical program has been arranged by Mrs. Lola King. It will consist of a solo by Miss Dorris Cravens and vocal numbers by the Eddyville trio, Mrs. Eula Barger, Mrs. Reva Barger, and Mrs. Lola King. The history of the community will be discussed by Clarence Bailey, the Rev. Virgil Smith, Omar Robinson, H. N. Burklow, Mrs. Wayne Barger, Courtney Meyers, Wm. Barger, Ralph Aly and others.

William Farley will show colored slides of scenic and historic places such as Indian Ladder, Clarida Spring, Hayes Canyon, Indian Kitchen etc. These slides will be used as a basis for locations of mill-sites, roads, settlements, etc. around which the discussion will be focused.

Tables and chairs are available at the school, none will need be taken by the members of the society. A good crowd is expected to attend, both from the society and the Eddyville community. Friends are welcome and urged to attend.

Proposed U. S. Route 58 for Area Rejected

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The proposed U. S. Route 58 through southern Illinois from Shawneetown to East St. Louis has been rejected because of some deficiencies, it was reported here today from the meeting of the American Association of Highway Officials. The deficiencies were not listed.

Ralph Bartelsmeyer, chief highway engineer, State of Illinois, stated following the action that Illinois and Kentucky "will re-evaluate our request and will probably make new applications to the route numbering committee of the associations."

Two routes have been submitted across southern Illinois. Bartelsmeyer several months ago said he had recommended the route to go from Shawneetown through Eldorado, Benton and Du Quoin. An alternate route submitted would go from Shawneetown through Harrisburg, Marion, Carbondale, Murphysboro and Pinckneyville. Both petitions were turned down.

Petitions have been submitted by Kentucky highway officials for the extension of the route across their state to Shawneetown and Illinois had joined with them to take the federal route across southern Illinois to East St. Louis.

The route across Kentucky would enter the state from Virginia at Cumberland Gap and pass through Mammoth Cave National park.

Hold 11th Hour Meeting To Avert Steel Strike

President Walks Out of Hospital, Goes to Farm

Says Nothing About Second Term Intentions

WASHINGTON (AP) — A smiling President Eisenhower, limping slightly, walked out of Walter Reed hospital today, climbed slowly into an automobile, and left for two weeks of convalescence on his Gettysburg farm.

It was the President's first venture into the outdoors since his intestinal operation just three weeks ago. Accompanied by Mamie, on whose arm he leaned, Mr. Eisenhower waved gaily at photographers and well wishers.

But he said nothing about his second term intentions. He will decide after meditation in the country whether to make a political announcement before returning to the White House.

As he left, the President's only words were "Hello" to an aide and rafter. Apparently he did not hear a reporter's question, "How do you feel on leaving the hospital?"

But his doctors, in their final medical bulletin this morning, already had pronounced him in good shape. They said "his spirits and his morale are high."

Sunday is the Eisenhower's 40th (ruby) wedding anniversary. Today they were holding hands and smiling happily as they emerged from the hospital and posed on the veranda for photographers.

Their departure was delayed almost half an hour by a round of goodbyes to the men and women at the hospital who have been taking care of the President.

Except for a moment earlier in the week when Mr. Eisenhower posed at a window, today's was the President's first public appearance since he entered the hospital.

The President, normally ruddy, seemed slightly pale after three weeks in the hospital. The six pounds' difference in his weight today and the day he entered the hospital was evident in the lines of his neck and face.

Child Drowns in Pond Near Salem

SALEM, Ill. (AP) — A five-year-old girl drowned in a small farm pond near here Friday.

She was Barbara Marks, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Marks.

Authorities believe the little girl was wading in the pond. She had been away from home for several hours before her mother noticed her absence and called police.

Senate Approves $4.5 Billion Foreign Aid Authorization Measure, 54 to 25

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate economy advocates, beaten in their attempts to cut the big foreign aid authorization bill, turned their efforts today toward reducing actual appropriations for the program.

The Senate Friday night approved 54-25 a $4,562,000,000 authorization to shore up the military and economic defenses of free world allies against the continuing threat of Communist aggression.

The action came after three long days of often heated debate and was regarded as a substantial victory for the Eisenhower administration. But it took the combined votes of 27 Democrats and 27 Republicans to put the measure across on the final vote.

The Senate bill is almost 400 million dollars less than the $4,900,000,000 originally requested by President Eisenhower. But the total is more than 700 million dollars above the $3,800,000,000 voted by the House.

All told, the Senate added a total of 60 million dollars on three minor amendments and cut nothing from the 4 1-2 billion dollars originally approved by its Foreign Relations Committee. Of the additions, 35 million dollars would go for extra economic aid to Latin America and the remainder to encourage resistance among subjugated peoples behind the Iron Curtain.

The controversial aid measure now goes to a House-Senate conference committee for a compromise to be worked out. But the conference group will not act until next week.

Sen. Jones Submits Program to Attract Tourists to Gov. Stratton

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — A program to brighten up southern Illinois as a scenic and historical tourist attraction through cooperative efforts of the State Conservation Department and the Illinois Highways Division has been submitted to Gov. William G. Stratton. The program is sponsored by State Sen. Glen O. Jones, Harrisburg. It is intended to encourage week ends and vacationers to enjoy "the beautiful hills and rivers" of that area of the state.

While Jones does not refer to southern Illinois as an "economic distressed" area where a major coal industry has declined to decrease employment, the program is expected to absorb some of the unemployed. The jingle of cash dollars as they come from the pockets of tourists in payment for lodging, meals and recreation and at filling stations and drug stores would be expected to serve as a tune to spur enthusiasm in a new buildup of southern Illinois both recreationally and industrially.

Forest Service to Release Land

Jones, with State Rep. Garrel Burgoon, Lawrenceville, have discussed the project with H. H. Harrison, Springfield, of the Highways Division, and James Helfrich, Springfield, head of the State Department of Conservation Education Division. Harrison said Alvin G. Griese, Springfield, of the highways division's bureau of design will survey areas expected to be made available to the state by the U. S. Forestry Service.

According to Jones, Larry P. Neff, Harrisburg, supervisor of Shawnee National Forest in southern Illinois, has assured release of land to the state highways division for use as tourist rest areas. Harrison said preliminaries for setting up the program will include surveying this summer of sites for rest areas, followed by conferences with the U. S. Forestry Service and that establishment of the areas probably would be a winter-time project.

He said the Division's job after obtaining the sites would be to set up roadside tables and to police and maintain the areas with the State Conservation Department, under Helfrich's supervision, supplying 5 by 4 feet show cases which would contain large blowup maps of southern Illinois below State Route 13 and which could be read two or three feet away showing "You are here" and scenic and recreational places to be seen in

Craig Suffers Defeat in Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Indiana Gov. George N. Craig suffered a crushing defeat in the Republican state nominating convention Friday when delegates named his long-time political enemy Lt. Gov. Harold Handley, as their candidate for governor.

Sen. Homer E. Capehart, who managed to stay out of most of the convention controversy, overcame nominal opposition in winning the party's nomination for a third six-year term.

Capehart overwhelmed George B. Huff, Indianapolis public relations expert, 1,669 to 159.

Craig, ineligible for reelection, supported Frank T. Millis in the gubernatorial battle. Millis ran second behind Handley in the first ballot, and was defeated in the second when Handley polled 1,430 votes.

Resume Joint Talks Seeking New Contract

Union Wage Policy Committee Endorses Rejection of Offer

NEW YORK (AP) — Steel wage negotiators met today in an 11th-hour effort to avert a threatened strike by 650,000 steelworkers at midnight.

Four-man bargaining teams for the United Steelworkers of America and the industry's "Big Three" resumed joint bargaining talks on a new contract that would guarantee labor peace in the steel industry.

It was not disclosed as the meeting began whether either side had come up with a new proposal for breaking the deadlock that has existed for more than a week.

John A. Stephens, vice president of U. S. Steel and chief industry negotiator, said just before the meeting started at 10:10 a. m. "We have nothing new to report."

Steelworkers President David J. McDonald's only statement was "It's a lovely morning."

Arthur J. Goldberg, union chief counsel quipped, "That's off the record."

Refuses to Extend Contract

The union's 170-man Wage Policy Committee Friday endorsed the earlier rejection by top union officials of the industry's last offer of a four-year, four-month contract.

The companies' offer to reduce the contract length from their original demand for a five-year agreement depended upon union consent to continue working under the old contract while negotiations continued. The union refused to extend the present contract beyond midnight tonight, the original expiration time.

Wage Policy Committee members said they were "prepared for the worst." But many of them said they were still optimistic that enough time remains in which to write a new contract.

United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald has said a new contract could be written "in five minutes" if the companies would back down on their demand for a long-term pact.

The union's picket signs were painted and the companies said they were ready to meet the crisis of a crippling strike.

Shutdown Nears Completion

Steel centers across the nation stopped posting work schedules and the orderly shutdown of the plants neared completion.

The process of cooling off the giant furnaces in preparation for the threatened walkout will cost the industry 1 million tons production, even if an agreement is reached at the final hour. Banking of furnaces cost 500,000 tons and it was estimated another 500,000 tons will be lost before the plants can begin operating again.

Blood Donation Day Thursday, July 5, by Hardin County Red Cross

Blood Donation day will be held by the Hardin County Red Cross chapter Thursday, July 5. Blood centers will be held at the Rosiclar high school from 12 to 6 p. m., and at the Cave-in-Rock grade school from 1 to 7 p. m.

James G. Gullett is blood bank chairman and the recruitment committee is as follows: Mary Hensley, chairman; Adrian Frayser, Yeatman Northern, Durward Spees and Fred Wrobel.

One hundred and seventy five pints are needed in the drive.

The Weather

Geology Study of Groundwater Conditions in Southern Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special)—
The Illinois Geological Survey has completed a report on a geology study of groundwater conditions in southern Illinois and has given the area a grading from poor to excellent. Counties surveyed were Alexander, Edwards, Franklin, Gallatin, Hamilton, Hardin, Jackson, Jefferson, Johnson, Massac, Perry, Pope, Pulaski, Randolph, Saline, Union, Wabash, Washington, Wayne, White and Williamson.

The report termed conditions as "good" in Alexander, Massac, Pope, Pulaski, Union and White counties. It termed conditions in Edwards as "poor"; in Gallatin,
"favorable"; in Jackson "excellent"; Wayne "fair"; and in Randolph as "unfavorable." Broken down by counties the survey's report said:

Saline—Glacial deposits are thin in Saline county. Sand and gravel wells are constructed only in the valley fill of the Saline river, where some thin discontinuous deposits are present.

Most domestic wells obtain water from sandstone strata in the Pennsylvania system. These water-yielding sandstones are at depths below 100 feet in the area north of Harrisburg. South of Harrisburg water-yielding sandstones are at depths below 300 feet.

Gallatin—Thin permeable sand and gravel deposits are present in the Wabash valley in the eastern part of the county and conditions are favorable for driven sand-points. This sand and gravel deposits are locally present in the valley of the Saline river. Sandstone aquifers of the Pennsylvania system are present and water-yielding in most of the county.

Most domestic wells range in depth from 150 to 250 feet.

Hamilton — The glacial deposits are thin; sand and gravel wells are constructed only in the valley fill of the Saline river and Skillet Fork, where thin scattered deposits are present. These valleys contain considerable amounts of finegrained deposits.

Most domestic wells obtain water from Pennsylvania sandstones.
These sandstones are 200 to 400 feet deep and have low permeabilities.

Hardin—Thin sand and gravel deposits occur in a narrow band along the Ohio river. The uplands are essentially bare of glacial deposits, and rocks of Pennsylvanian and Mississippian age are exposed at the surface in many places.

Domestic wells obtain water from thick Pennsylvanian sandstones in the northern part of the county. Most wells in the southern part of the county are finished in the faulted and creviced Mississippian (Valmeyer) limestones, especially the St. Louis limestone.

Where the Valmeyer limestones are overlain by thin Chester rocks, it is common practice to penetrate the Chester rocks and drill into the Valmeyer limestones.

Pope — Bedrock is exposed in much of Pope county. Thick permeable deposits of sand and gravel are restricted to the Cache and Ohio river valleys. Cretaceous sands are water-yielding along the southwestern border of the county.

Thick deposits of sand and gravel in the valley bottoms are potential sources of groundwater for industrial and municipal purposes.

creviced Valmeyer limestones, which in some areas are potential sources of groundwater for municipal and industrial supplies.

Alexander — Shallow and deep sand and gravel deposits are potential groundwater sources. The bottomlands of the Ohio, Mississippi and Cache rivers contain thick deposits of water-yielding material. Edwards — Glaciated uplands north and south of Albion contain thick glacial deposits with poor possibilities for successful drilled wells in sand and gravel.

Franklin — Glacial deposits are generally thin and not water-yielding.

Jackson — Excellent sand and gravel aquifers suitable for municipal and industrial groundwater supplies are present in southwestern Jackson county; Jefferson and Johnson—Glacial deposits are thin or absent and bedrock is exposed over much of the area; Massac—Sand and gravel deposits in the Cache and Ohio river valleys are thick and suitable for municipalities.

Last week the Carrier Mills Bat-
tist church enjoyed a most unusual meeting and Bro. Le Roy Marvel brought the Bible message
to a well filled house of listeners.

Being an entertainer on WSIL he is well known for his comedy and sense of humor. His gift for singing gospel songs was an added attraction for the services. Bro.
Ray Allen was the song leader.

Six young people from the Car-morning. All expenses were paid by the church. Those who went for the week of study and recreation were: Misses Linda Hill,

Elaine Starkey, Linda Lane, Jean
Pearl, Billie Ryne, Linda Pyle.

A group from the Carrier Mills
Baptist church brought a religious service at the Dorrisville Nursing home Tuesday night. There are about 14 people there to whom the Carrier Mills church ministers
once per month.

Last week the Carrier Mills Bat-
tist church enjoyed a most unusual meeting and Bro. Le Roy Marvel brought the Bible message
to a well filled house of listeners.

Being an entertainer on WSIL he is well known for his comedy and sense of humor. His gift for singing gospel songs was an added
attraction for the services. Bro.
Ray Allen was the song leader.

Six young people from the Carrier Mills Baptist church left for the Baptist camp at Lake Sallate-eska near Pinckneyville, Monday morning. All expenses were paid
by the church. Those who went for the week of study and recreation were: Misses Linda Hill,
Elaine Starkey, Linda Lane, Jean
Pearl, Billie Ryne, Linda Pyle.

A group from the Carrier Mills
Baptist church brought a religious service at the Dorrisville Nursing home Tuesday night. There are about 14 people there to whom the Carrier Mills church ministers
once per month.

Miss Shirley Prather, William Thaxton Wed at Beulah Heights Church

Miss Shirley Prather, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Prather of this city, became the bride of William Thaxton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Thaxton of Eldorado in a simple and impressive ceremony Saturday evening June 9.

The double ring ceremony was performed at the Beulah Heights Methodist church by the church pastor the Rev. Z. W. Story, in the presence of the immediate relatives.

The bride was attired in a mint-green street-length dress with white accessories and wore a white carnation corsage.

Miss Barbara Prather, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She wore a beige sheath dress with white accessories and a corsage of white and yellow asters.

Don Gwaltney of East Alton, cousin of the bridegroom, was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the bridegroom's home with the families in attendance. A three tiered wedding cake and other refreshments were served.

The bride was graduated from the Harrisburg Township high school with the class of 1954 and has been employed at the Harrisburg National bank where she will continue to work. The bridegroom was graduated from the Eldorado Township high school and is employed at the Kroger store. The couple are making their home at 1009 Kerr street in Eldorado.

On Tuesday evening, June 19, a household shower was given in honor of the couple by Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Prather.

Refreshments of ice cream and cookies were served to the following: Mrs. Raymond Alvey and daughter, Barbara Mrs. Carol McRoy, Mrs. Ruby Gullledge, Mrs. Sarah Prather, Mrs. Rhoda King, Mrs. Novetta Priest, Mrs. Loy King, Mrs. Lowell Shewmaker, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bundren, Mrs. Julia Ridley, Mrs. Ethel Hudnell, Mrs. Pauline Crabb, Mrs. Reba Hull, Mrs. Raymond Carroll, Miss Ruby Thomas, Mrs. Anna Reynolds, Mrs. Mabel Denny, and Michael and Barbara Prather. Others sent gifts who could not be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Cain and their children, Jimmy and Jerry, left Friday evening for Phoenix, Ariz., to visit Mrs. Cain's sister, Mrs. Woodrow Fulkerson and family. Woodrow accompanied them to Phoenix after spending a week visiting relatives and meeting old friends.

Youth Group Presents Program for W. S. C. S.

One June 27 a meeting of the W. S. C. S. of the Methodist church was held.

After an inspiring prayer by the new president, Mrs. L. B. Kimmel, and the business session was concluded, Mrs. C. E. Wing, chairman, took charge and presented a most interesting program by the youth group.

The devotion, "No Child Is An Island to Himself," was given by Carol Cable. A quartet of girls, Janet Tanner, Janice Morris, Janet Thompson, and Peggy O'Neil, sang "O Come Ye Disconsolate." Then as moderator Mrs. Wing conducted a panel discussion on spiritual guidance with Susan Peak, Janet Tanner, Alice Woolcott, David Burnam, Billy Hopkins, and Tommy Wilkerson. This was spirited and most interesting.

The WSCS voted to send two girls, Alice Woolcott and Kay Wallace, to Little Grass Lake camp which is an interracial intermediate camp.

Forty-two members were present besides the twelve young people from the youth group. Thirteen new members in WSCS were announced by Mrs. Gasaway.

The meeting was adjourned and orange sodas were served by the executive committee.

Regular Meeting By Golden Rule Circle

The Golden Rule circle of the Sloan Street General Baptist church met in the church basement recently for the regular June meeting.

The meeting opened with the song "Amazing Grace" and Mrs. Haskel Hill, circle president, read the fourth chapter of Malachi, followed by prayer by all those present.

Another hymn, "At The Cross," was sung by the group and roll call was answered with scripture verse, preceded by an offering. Minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Chris Church.

The meeting was closed with prayer by Edna Spurlock and singing a hymn "Blessed Be The Tie That Binds."

Next regular meeting of the circle will be July 25, but the circle will hold a family wienner roast at Karel park Saturday, July 7, at 7:30 p. m.

Those attending the meeting were Helen Hicks, Eunice Black, Cora Church, Mary Lou Spurlock, Louie Brinkley, Louise McCuan, Anne Belle Deaton and daughter and Loretta Hill.

Liberty Y. W. A.'s Meet at Home of Counselor

The Liberty Baptist Y. W. A.'s met June 26 at the home of their counselor, Mrs. Irene Langford.

The president, Jane Wasson, presided during the business meeting. The minutes were read and approved. Officers were elected for next year and they are: President, Jane Wasson; vice president, Sara Gibbs; secretary and treasurer, Joann Douglas; reporter, Dixie Lee Owen; publicity chairman, Sue Roberts; recreation chairman, Irene Langford; and community mission chairman, Mary Douglas.

The program was opened by singing "The Light of the World is Jesus." Sara Gibbs led in prayer. Mrs. Irene Langford presented the lesson, "Thy Word Is a Lamp," and topics were given by Mary, Doris, and Joann Douglas, Sara Gibbs, Dixie Lee Owen, and Jane Wasson.

Plans were made to attend Y. W. A. camp at Lake Sallateeska July 6-8. The meeting was closed with prayer by Doris Douglas.

Western Union Asks Rate Increase

NEW YORK (UP) — Permission to raise its message and money order rates is being sought by Western Union, the company announced Friday. It is asking the Federal Communications Commission permission to increase rates to "offset increased wage costs," a Western Union spokesman said.

Changes proposed in telegram rates will range from five to 15 cents outside the so-called "first zone," which would be extended from 75 to 125 miles under the change. Charges for additional words over the basic 15-word allowance would go up one-half to one cent in the various zones.

Extend Deadline For Compliance With Soil Bank

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Agriculture Department has extended until at least July 15 local deadlines for plowing up crops under the new soil bank program.

Previously, local deadlines could be set between June 30 and July 31. But department officials said the original deadline did not give some farmers enough time to get full information on the soil bank before deciding whether to participate.

Under the soil bank program, farmers can qualify for government payments by not planting, or by plowing under, 1956 crops of wheat, corn, cotton, peanuts, tobacco and rice.

The department also said Friday it will allow farmers to graze livestock in fields enrolled in the soil bank only in counties which have been designated as disaster areas because of drought, flood or other natural disasters.

Dr. Scheele Quits As Head of Public Health Service

WASHINGTON (UP) — Dr. Leonard A. Scheele, who was sworn in for his third term only three months ago, has unexpectedly resigned as head of the U. S. Public Health Service.

The resignation of the 48-year-old Scheele, guiding light of the Salk vaccine program, was accepted Friday by President Eisenhower with the "deepest regret."

The surgeon general gave no reason for the action other than to say he found it necessary to provide "more properly" for the future security of his family.

However, the United Press learned Scheele recently had accepted a top executive position with a large pharmaceutical firm in the New York area. Scheele evidently will draw a considerably larger salary than the government pay of about $17,000 a year.

Navy Fires Rocket 163 Miles Into Air

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUNDS, N. M. (UP) — The Navy fired an Aerobee-H1 rocket 163 miles into the air Friday to set a new world's altitude record for a single-stage rocket.

The Navy said the new record was set because of design changes in the thrust chamber of the Aerobee-H1—an improved version of the so-called "work-horse" Aerobee.

The previous altitude record for a single-stage rocket was 158 miles established by a Viking II in May, 1954.

A two-stage rocket, a combination of a U. S. WAC Corporal and a German V-2, holds the all-rocket altitude of 250 miles set here in February of 1945.

Accept Applications For Exams For Post Of Galatia Postmaster

Applications are being accepted by the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., for an examination for the position of postmaster at Galatia. They will be received until July 24, the commission announces. Annual salary is $4,530.

The examination will be to fill the post vacated by the retirement of L. L. Riegel. Harry G. Triplett has been acting postmaster since June 1.

Competitors for the vacancy must have at least one year of experience showing they have the ability to conduct and manage the community's postal business. They must take a written test; there is a one-year residence requirement and they must have reached their 18th birthday on the closing date for receipt of applications. There is no age limit.

Application forms must be filed with the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

Gov. Stratton Names McAmis Director of State Personnel Dep't

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — Gov. William G. Stratton Friday announced appointment of Donald D. McAmis, 41, Western Springs, as director of the new State Personnel Department effective July 1.

McAmis, on leave from his job as supervisor of employee relations at the General Motors Electromotive plant at La Grange, will receive $12,000 a year.

The personnel department was created by the 1955 Legislature, along with a new personnel code, which does not become effective until July 1, 1957.

McAmis will be in charge of recruitment, firing, pay and other administrative matters relating to state employees.

The new personnel code retains the Civil Service Commission, largely as an appeal body.

Dedicate Bridge

CLINTON, Iowa (UP) — The new $6,800,000 Gateway Bridge spanning the Mississippi River was dedicated today at ceremonies attended by top Iowa and Illinois officials.

The new suspension bridge, two years in the building, will carry traffic on U. S. 30 on a 26-foot roadway.

Would-Be Bigamist Foiled

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UP) — Mrs. Mabel Rumpel noted a familiar name in a newspaper list of persons applying for marriage licenses and promptly called the district attorney. The name was that of her husband, who had been issued a license to marry a Minnesota widow.

Gasoline Truck Explodes, Sets Fire to 10 Homes

CINCINNATI (UP) — A truck laden with 7,500 gallons of gasoline overturned and exploded on a residential street here today, setting fire to 10 houses.

One woman, her home threatened by the house-top high flames, died of a heart attack.

Police said the accident occurred when the rear trailer of a double-trailer Sunoco truck overturned and burst into flames.

Firemen said Mrs. May Barnett, 42, collapsed and died, apparently of a heart attack and shock, after she was taken from her home.

Police said apparently no one was injured in the accident. Firemen, however, dug into the wreckage to make sure that nobody had been killed.

Ten buildings on both sides of the street were either set afire or blackened.

Five automobiles were destroyed. Four of them were parked along the curb and the fifth was parked in a driveway.

Salk Vaccine Now Available for Persons of Any Age

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — The State Health Department Friday announced that Salk polio vaccine is now plentiful enough so that Illinois physicians may purchase and use it at their discretion on persons of any age.

Simultaneously the department released 345,492 cubic centimeters of the vaccine for commercial distribution.

The actions ended a ban on commercial distribution of the vaccine in Illinois under which the vaccine was reserved for a priority group which was recently enlarged to include children over 6 months and under 20 years of age, and expectant mothers.

The department said it will continue to provide physicians with free vaccine for persons in this priority group. The free vaccine is paid for with state and federal funds. Doctors, however, are free to charge their regular fees for administering the vaccine.

Farmer Resting Under Tree is Run Over by Truck Driven by Son

ATWATER, Ill. (UP) — A farmer who had stretched out beneath a tree after harvesting wheat was run over by a truck driven by his son, near here Friday.

The victim, John Ring, 64, had been working with his son, Charles. The younger Ring left to drive in a load of hay, and shortly after, drove over his father. Ring was pronounced dead at a Springfield, Ill., hospital.

British Teddy Boys Attack Four GIs

LONDON (UP) — A dozen teddy boys — British zootsuits — attacked four U. S. soldiers in downtown London Friday night with bicycle chains and broken bottles.

One of the soldiers, whose name could not be learned immediately, was hospitalized with cuts.

More than 40 policemen swarmed to the scene and broke up the battle, arresting six of the attackers.

Sen. Jones Submits Program to Stratton

southern Illinois and in the Shawnee Forest area.

Routes to Be Included

Harrison said Griesse's surveys will take in sites along routes which go by the Shawnee Forest. He said such routes would include Illinois 1, 3, 13, 127 and 146 and U. S. 45 and 51. Harrison added that rest areas would be about 100 feet wide and 200 feet long as a general thing, that the Division's chief interest will be to see the areas are adequate, policed and the weeds mowed.

Jones said the project has been taken up with Governor Stratton and that he is hopeful the state will contribute some effort to it. He said the program calls for construction of tourist roadside areas, that he has talked to Harrison about the highways division in cooperation with the conservation department undertaking a program "of adequately providing signs calling attention to and directing travelers to points of interest in the Shawnee forest area."

"The object I have in mind," said Jones, "is to encourage people who are looking for an area in which to spend a week end or vacation to come to and examine and enjoy the beautiful hills and rivers of southern Illinois. We have beautiful scenery and we have the most beautiful big river in America for hundreds of miles. I think it is an asset that can be exploited to the benefit of all the people."

Six-County Group

Jones disclosed that the University of Southern Illinois, in cooperation with his idea, has undertaken an organization program for the state's southern 21 counties and that within that organization there has been set up a six-county group — Gallatin, Massac, Saline, Hardin, Pope and Johnson — which is known as "The Shawnee Hills Recreational Association" and that it is organizing in each of the counties with a view to encouraging and exploiting tourist attractions.

"Upon examination of the area from this standpoint, I have come to some conclusions which seem to me to offer a good possibility for assistance to southern Illinois from an economic standpoint by increase of tourist business," said Jones, an attorney, and former secretary to former Supreme Court Justice Charles H. Thompson, Harrisburg, and now his law partner.

"We live between two of the principal tourist areas in the middle west, namely, the Ozarks and the Kentucky Lake area of Kentucky. In our area we have a rich historical past including Shawneetown, Cave-in-Rock and Fort Massac, all of which are on the Ohio River and all of which have contributed greatly to the development of the United States as a nation."

Historical Background

Jones pointed to George Rogers Clark as an example of the historical background of southern Illinois. Clark, he said, with fewer men and "under much more difficult conditions, captured and delivered to the United States a territory much more important to the nation than did Sam Houston, although the accomplishments of Houston were great. In comparing the two it is amazing how we in Illinois have neglected Clark."

"In the past few years through the motion picture industry the Ohio River and particularly the area of it around Cave-in-Rock and Shawneetown has been brought into the homes of every family in the nation," said Jones. "There is scarcely any family that has not watched Davy Crockett and Mike Fink battle the river pirates in the Old Cave in Cave-in-Rock. And in addition to this battle the historical background we lie along the only large river in America that runs clear."

"This is the Ohio, which, except in flood time, is a beautiful river for all sorts of water recreation. It also has become less of a river than it is a series of lakes for the reason that dams across it have made of it a controlled series of smooth water lakes suitable for all forms of water recreation. The multitudes of people who patronize our state park system in proof they will come to southern Illinois if they know about it."

River Cruises

Jones said there also is a movement on foot to institute a series of river cruises on the Ohio "which should provide one of the most enjoyable experiences any vacationer would desire," but that these are matters to be developed and worked out by private initiative.

"It is my thought," he said, "that the state of Illinois within its constitutional powers can greatly assist the economy of southern Illinois by developing the state parks and other public state-owned recreations in the area and by providing information on the highways as to how to reach these attractions. Such programs would not involve any large expenditures of money but would require only that existing facilities be improved so as to be adequate."

"It is interesting to note the immense growth of business in the Ozarks area of Missouri based on the development of the tourist trade. In our area we have adequate highways to reach all points. We have beautiful scenery and we have the most beautiful big river in America for hundreds of miles."

I think it is an asset that can be exploited to the benefit of all the people.

"If we in this area can duplicate the experience of the Missouri region and the Kentucky region across the Ohio, I know we can contribute much to the financial well-being of our people because tourist business is all plus-business and people who come for recreation come expecting to spend their money providing they can find entertainment. They spend it in filling stations, in drug stores and in all sorts of enterprises which are operated by private individuals."

Giant jaws of the Berger crane at Crown Zellerbach's Camas, Washington paper mill pick up 50 tons of logs at one bite.

It takes a GIANT to do the job

Whether the job be picking up fifty tons of logs or picking up more and more customers, you need the powerful services of a giant. In selling, you need the newspaper—the giant who lives in every town.

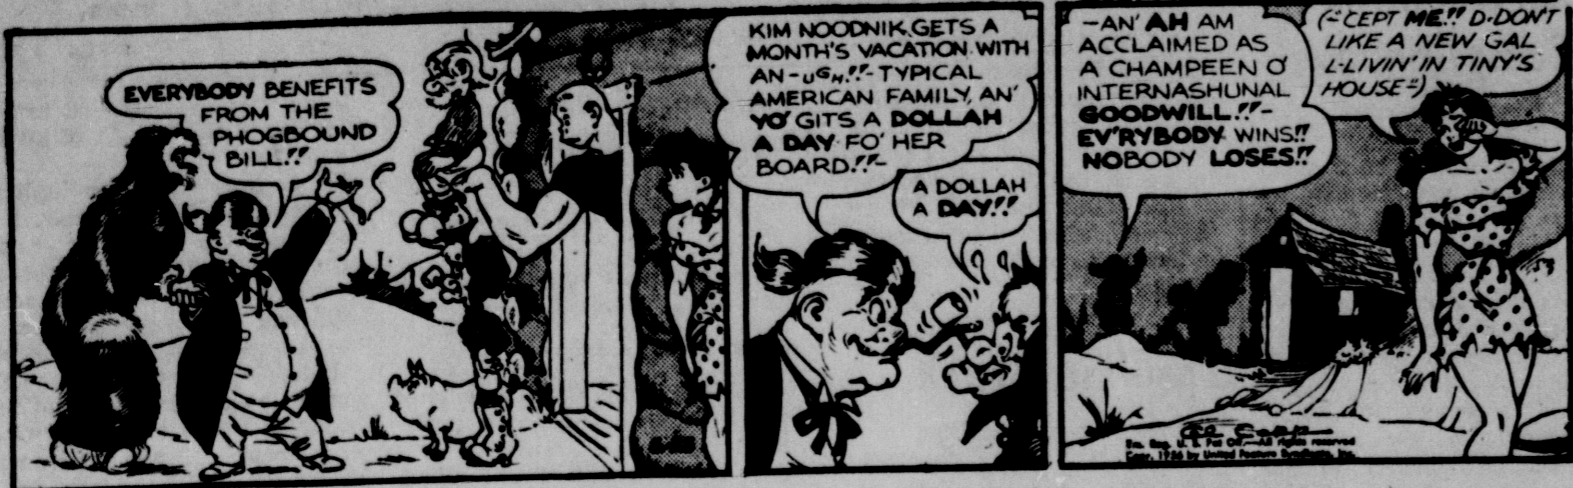

Each day more than 56,000,000 newspapers are bought by people in big cities and small towns. The newspaper reaches deep into the markets of America, influencing your every possible prospect.

Wide-awake retailers, wholesalers and distributors know and use the powerful selling punch delivered by their daily newspapers. And they know, also, that nothing gives a bigger boost to the products they sell than to have the manufacturer's ads backing up their own in the same newspapers.

Whatever you sell, wherever you sell, you need a giant. That giant is the newspaper. Put it on the job. Keep it on the job.

All business is local...and so are all newspapers.

A Pretty Girl Was

Sufficient Excuse

WICHITA Kan. (Lloyd (Ranger) Duncan, 71-year-old cowpoke, doesn't blame a young man for looking at a pretty girl.

Duncan asked that a traffic charge be dropped against James R. White, 17, whose car sent the cowhand to the hospital. The high school senior had been arrested for failure to yield right-of-way to a pedestrian.

"He was looking at a pretty girl coming down the steps of the post-office," said the older who winters in Wichita driving a truck and summers on Montana ranches.

Though nursing a cut, stitched lip, a sore nose and body bruises, Duncan testified:

"Why, any boy with any spunk at all would rather look at a pretty girl than at a man."

White was given a $5 fine which was suspended.

"The Golden Ass" by Apuleius, a second century Latin writer, is one of the few surviving examples of the Latin novel.

BE PATIENT!

It is every motorist who takes to the road on the Fourth of July who merely heads the rules of the road there would be no tragedies. The long lines of traffic will irritate some drivers and cause others to lose their patience. When this happens there is every reason to believe they will toss the rules of the road out of the window and attempt to proceed in a hazardous manner.

Courtesy should be the by-word on July 4. Courteous driving has never hurt a driver but it has saved a lot of lives. It may take the edge off of the thought, but one fact stands out—driving courteously can be mighty practical.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

First Aid Kit Is Good Travel Insurance

URBANA—When you're traveling, a first aid kit and first aid handbook tucked into your glove compartment helps to insure a safe and happy trip, says Pauline Barnhill, health education specialist at the University of Illinois.

With first aid equipment you can treat minor cuts, insect bites or sunburn on the spot, and you won't need to delay your trip.

Your travel medicine kit should include such basic supplies as gauze, adhesive tape, scissors, sterile bandages and a mild antiseptic. If you're headed for the beach or the woods, you may want to add sunburn ointment and insect repellent.

If anyone in your party needs special medicine, take enough for the entire trip.

If someone becomes ill, the nearest hospital or office of county or city medical society can give you information about doctors. Many towns have physicians' telephone exchanges that help get medical attention in an emergency.

But to treat minor accidents or cuts, a travel first aid kit and first aid handbook should be sufficient.

SIU Country Column

By Albert Meyer
The arrival of wheat harvest brings along some advice from Herbert Portz, the crops man at Southern Illinois university. His contributions are particularly timely because a new and more rigid Federal Food and Drug Administration regulation regarding wheat used for human consumption goes into effect July 1.

The provisions relate to grain contaminated by rodents or damaged by insects. Under the regulation, wheat will be subject to government seizure and to being barred from use for food if it is contaminated to the extent of one or more rodent pellets per pint of grain, or if one per cent or more of the wheat kernels have apparent or actual insect damage.

This regulation emphasizes the fact that farmers need to give their wheat storage bins careful attention immediately if they plan to hold wheat on the farm.

Just to show that wheat stored on the farm may not be as clean as the farmer thinks, take a look at a recent study by the University of Minnesota. For the project seven thousand grain samples taken from different places in the marketing channel—farm bins, country and terminal elevators, and processors' storage—were examined.

Here are the findings. One bin out of 12 on the farm would be subject to seizure under the old regulations for insect damage. One of five farm bins and one out of five loads of grain delivered from the farm to the country elevator contained rodent contamination. Under the more stringent new regulations the number subject to seizure undoubtedly would be greater.

Portz suggests a few steps the farmer may take in storing his wheat so that he will be more sure of offering for sale grain that will meet the law's sanitary requirements.

Repair the grain bins so that they will be bird and rat proof and will not leak.

Spray the bin walls, floors and ceilings with a 2.5 per cent DDT or Methoxychlor solution about two weeks before storing the grain, to guard against insect damage.

Thoroughly clean everything concerned with harvesting and storing the wheat—combine, trucks, bins. Keeping the premises clean also will be helpful by cutting down on rodent hiding and breeding places.

Try to kill all mice and rats. Store only clean, dry grain which has less than 14 per cent moisture.

You need to feed ground or shelled corn with oat silage to balance the ration for wintering bred ewes.

Oak makes up most of Illinois timber sales.

4-H Key Club Plans Meeting At State Fair

John Gesell, Belvidere, and Barbara Boyd Anna, have been named co-chairmen to plan a statewide meeting of Illinois 4-H Key Club members for Sunday, August 12, at the State Fair.

This will be an organization meeting held in cooperation with state 4-H staff members from the University of Illinois College of Agriculture in Urbana. Members will also take part in the E. I. Pilchard Memorial Service scheduled for 10 a. m. on that date in the Junior Department auditorium.

There are now 381 Key Club winners who are eligible to belong to the organization, according to Gesell. This is the second year for this new award program in Illinois and the first time the whole group has had a chance to get together.

Gesell emphasizes that it will be up to members who attend the Springfield meeting to decide whether there shall be a statewide Key Club organization. Some of the projects tentatively suggested for the group to sponsor include general support of 4-H Club work in Illinois, work with and through the Illinois 4-H Foundation in fund-raising activities and participation in other statewide 4-H activities.

Other committee members appointed on a temporary basis until the August 12 meeting are Martha Massie Colusa; Mary Jane Smith, Ellery; Frances Nelson, Wataga; Russell Youmans, Ogden; Marilyn Perry, Adrian; Jim Mueller, Taylor Ridge; Judge Hage, Yorkville; Delbert Denby, Girard; and Mary Piper, Sharon, Wisconsin.

Clip Pastures, Increase Forage

Research studies at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture show that clipping pastures can increase forage yields as much as 10 to 20 per cent.

Dairy specialists at the University point out that the increased yield comes in young, fast-growing plants that make the best feed for the dairy herd.

In pasture mixtures, the grasses often grow rank and tend to crowd out the legumes. Clipping off this excess growth will give the legumes a better chance to grow.

Cattle are likely to graze even a well-managed pasture unevenly. They may not eat some of the grass, and it will go to seed. Clipping will remove these seed heads and allow the pasture to recover at a uniform rate.

Clipping pastures also fits well into a rotational grazing system. The clipping should be done about two days after the herd has been moved to a new pasture plot. A chain or harrow can be hooked to the rear of the mower so that the droppings can be spread in the same operation.

In addition to improving the quality of the pasture crops, clipping will also control weeds. It will keep them from going to seed and also keep them from crowding out the grasses and legumes. The result will be higher quality pasture for your dairy herd.

Flies Carry Tiny Parasites to Cattle

URBANA—One good reason for using fly-control measures around your farm is to prevent anaplasmosis in cattle, a serious disease caused by tiny parasites that are carried by blood-sucking insects.

Dr. R. E. Bradley of the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine emphasized the need for frequent and thorough spraying to keep down the number of flies and mosquitoes that may spread anaplasmosis infection to your livestock.

The disease is also spread by unfertilized vaccinating needles and dehorning instruments, so be sure to disinfect equipment when vaccinating or dehorning.

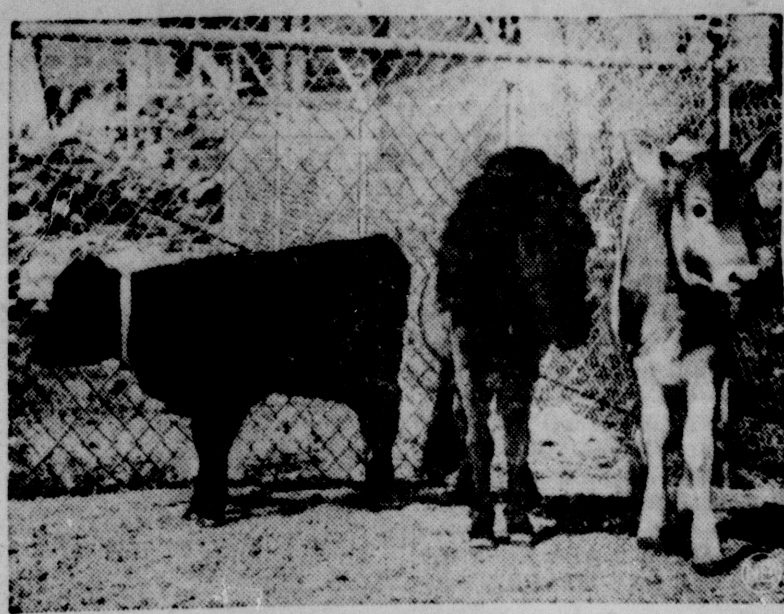

Anaplasmosis is most common in the southern United States but it has been reported in Illinois, especially in the southern part.

One-third to one-half of the infected animals die. There is no vaccine and no sure cure for the disease. Infected animals that do recover serve as carriers of the parasite.

When the parasite gets into a cow's bloodstream, it destroys the red blood cells, causing anemia, fever, labored breathing, loss of appetite, general weakness and reduced milk production.

This Week at DIXON SPRINGS

University of Illinois Experiment Station

(A round-up of the week's work, activities, and observations at the University of Illinois Dixon Springs Experiment Station near Robbs in southern Illinois, prepared by the Station's staff)

Farm Advisers

It was the first week in June, and the fish were biting as the Station played host to 200 farm advisers from all parts of Illinois. Some of our guests had 350 to 400 miles to drive from areas naturally very unlike ours in soil and climate. The meeting was the annual spring conference, which is held every fifth year at Dixon Springs and other years at the Urbana campus. It is at these meetings that your advisers get first-hand information on experimental work. Remote as some counties are from our Station, the advisers should have picked up some things about cattle, sheep pastures, and forestry that will have valuable, local application. Ask them about it. But be wary of fish stories. We understand that a few lines were wetted in the lake and ponds.

Speaking of the farm advisers, we would like to remind you that your farm advisers' book shelves, bulletin rack and mind are loaded with recipes for better farming. Just as your wife has a favorite recipe for that delightful apple pie, your farm adviser has one for growing a 100-bushel corn and for a multitude of other specific farming objectives.

The Recipes

This recipe-farming may be a little like following the rules of a ball game. Researchers have spent years delving into the secrets and idiosyncracies of nature. From this they have developed rules but, as is true of a ball game, unless the rules are applied the results are often chaotic. Many of the rules we can apply without really knowing why except that they give good results.

All of this reminds us of the story told of a local amateur gardener who once took an extension course in gardening. This man resolved with the first lesson to apply religiously, no matter how absurd some of it seemed, everything that he learned in the course. He reported the results to be a good one that produced results beyond his wildest imagining.

Nitrogen on Corn

The week of June 18 was a busy one, with barley harvest and fescue and orchard grass combining, followed by harvest of winter oats and wheat and haying. That is one big reason we are using anhydrous ammonia to side-dress our corn rather than using any of the other nitrogen carriers. Anhydrous ammonia is competitively priced, gives excellent results and is custom applied, relieving us of another job in a busy season.

Zero Grazing
Sometime ago we told you that Norris Phelps, our sheep herdsman, was chopping, hauling, and feeding fresh pasture each day to ewes and lambs housed in cool, open sheds. The sheep receiving this very special treatment after six weeks have made no gain—in fact, they have even lost a little weight. Ewes and lambs grazing the same forage have made fair gains. The forage was not of the highest quality, being only 1.5 legume with a high percentage of wild grasses. The only explanation we can offer is that the grazing sheep had a choice and were able to pick out the better forage plants. The housed sheep did not have this choice but had to take what was served.

This week the diet was changed to a perfect, clean stand of Ladino clover—nothing else. Perhaps on this wonderful feed, with the selective grazing eliminated, we can learn more about the value of fresh green chop for ewes and lambs.

Stock Needs Cool Shelter

Experiment Station research has shown that keeping animals cool in summer is almost as important as protecting them from winter weather.

J. T. Clayton, research agricultural engineer at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says air conditioning livestock shelters so far is much too expensive to consider.

But you can take advantage of all the natural cooling available at low cost.

For instance, you can paint your barn a light color instead of red to give it much reflective ability and reduce inside temperatures on sunny days. A shiny or light colored roof also reflects the sun's glare, Clayton says.

Ceiling insulation and ventilated attic space also help keep buildings cooler in hot weather. Put in large windows and doors for good cross-ventilation and open on the side toward the prevailing summer winds. If your buildings have winter ventilating fans, reverse them to blow toward the animals in summer.

Use natural shade trees when you can, especially to locate hog shelters on pasture. Or you can put up some inexpensive hog shelters of straw and poles.

10 Million Acres Damaged by Wind In Plains States

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reported today that land damaged by wind erosion in the Great Plains during the Nov. 1-May 31 blow season totaled almost 10 million acres.

This was about 6 million acres less than the previous blow season of 1954-55, or a reduction of 38 per cent in land damage reported.

More than 90 per cent of the reported land damage occurred in the five southern Great Plains states of Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas. Of the 8,996,000 acres reported damaged in these states, 2,996,000 acres were in Colorado, 2,722,000 acres in Texas, and 2,161,000 acres in Kansas.

In the five northern Great Plains states—Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wyoming—estimates showed that 813,000 acres had been damaged by wind action this season. Nebraska had the largest total of the northern group—443,000 acres. Montana was second with 200,000 acres damaged.

Cocklebur Control

Using cultural methods and spraying with 2,4-D are the best ways to control cocklebur in soybeans and increase yields, says Fred W. Slife, University of Illinois weed specialist.

Usually a good rotation combined with good cultivation practices will control cockleburs effectively. In thickly infested river bottoms, however, additional measures are needed.

According to Slife, delayed planting will make it possible to destroy a couple of weed crops and allow the soil to warm up so that the beans will germinate rapidly. Harrowing when necessary from the time the beans are planted until they are six to eight inches high helps too. This is the last chance to increase yield by cultural practices.

Slife says when cultural methods fail soybeans can be sprayed with one-eighth pound of amine-type 2,4-D an acre to destroy cockleburs. Soybeans have considerable tolerance to this chemical in the early stages of growth but become more sensitive as they grow older.

The best time to spray is when the plants are three to five inches tall. Slife warns farmers not to use a heavier application because it will damage soybean plants and reduce yields.

The young soybeans may curl up at first, but in a week there is no sign of injury and the treatment causes no yield reduction.

Make one complete round of the field to be sure you have the plow running level at the right depth before you adjust the hitch and coulters.

SAVE TAXES WITH AN INSURANCE TRUST

If you are a high bracket taxpayer and wish to provide your children or grandchildren with life insurance benefits, and at the same time, substantially reduce your tax on the income which is used to pay the premiums, you can accomplish both of these results with a particular type of insurance trust. This can be accomplished without permanently parting from any of your income producing properties.

This particular trust is a type of short term trust, and under it, the grantor transfers properties or money to the trust with the income to be used for some other person's benefit. For example, to buy insurance on a parent's life payable to the trust beneficiary. The grantor may even retain a reversionary interest but: vet the income will be taxable to the trust or the beneficiary and not to him. There are, of course, certain conditions to be met in order to secure these tax advantages.

INCOME TAX EFFECT
However, the trust income will be taxed to the trust with rates as low as 20% rather than to you, the grantor, at your high tax rate which might be as high as 87%. This tax savings will allow more insurance to be bought than could otherwise be purchased without the trust. Thus, you will have succeeded in buying insurance protection for your children or grandchildren with the money which you would ordinarily have paid to the Government for taxes.

There are many kinds of life insurance policies which can be used under the conditions outlined herein, and they can all be obtained at the Robertson-Ghent Insurance Agency.

THE LAND OF THE FREE

One of the first landmarks the European traveler sees as he approaches this country is Bartholdi's famous Statue of Liberty. The artist here has deftly drawn a broken chain across the background of freedom's holy light, signifying that oppression and human slavery cannot exist in a land of free people. But freedom involves more than an unshackled body and the possession of civil and political rights. One may possess all these and still be a slave to his own weaknesses. True freedom encompasses the mind and soul of man as well as his body and his political relations. Men are enslaved by vicious habits, by their ignorance, prejudice, selfishness and hate. Religion is the mother of freedom, and the Church has been its chief and most constant exponent. Jesus said, "The truth shall make you free," and the truth is embodied in the Holy Scriptures. No chains can fetter the soul of the man who dwells in the light of God's freedom.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'Nine Letters of Faith And Encouragement'

I Peter 2:19-25; Jude 3:17-25 — GOLDEN TEXT: "Content for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints." (Jude 3)

INTRODUCTION — We have finished with our study of the book of Acts, and now we begin a three months' study of nine books which most Christians today neglect in their readings. However, these books have been most precious to Christians of another day.

We will study the book of Hebrews. Here we find Christ presented as the one and only Saviour. His blood sacrifice at Calvary forever did away with the sacrifice of the blood of animals. He is above all.

We will study the book of James. Here we will find that a Christian is one who proves his faith in Christ by working for him.

Next will come I and II Peter. Here we find encouragement for those who are suffering.

I, II and III John will be studied. They will show us how to meet false teachings and how Christians should love one another.

Jude will give us an idea about contending for the faith once and for all.

When we come to the book of Revelation we will see how God proposes to deal with the churches and the peoples of all ages.

Today we look at I Peter and Jude.

I AN EXAMPLE IN SUFFERING (I Peter 2:19-25)

Christ is our example. He suffered at the hands of evil men when he had done nothing wrong. Peter tells us that in the hour of suffering we have our best opportunities to show our Christianity. A real Christian never whimpers and cries. Neither does he rebel.

Many times we suffer as a result of our own evil acts and wrong doings. This is to be expected. However it is quite possible that we will have to suffer, because we have stood for that which is right. Whatever the cause of our suffering, we are to accept it as an opportunity to show the world our love for and faith in Christ.

II CONTENDING FOR THE FAITH (Jude 3)

The world has tried for centuries to tear down the faith of Christians. Jude tells us to "contend for the faith which was once for all delivered unto the saints." The world (non-Christian people) cannot understand this. They do not understand how Christians can bear suffering and even cruel torture without rebellion. They stand in amazement in the presence of a Christian suffering for Christ's sake. They are themselves drawn toward Christ and some accept him as Saviour.

III HOW TO ACT (Jude 17-23)

Jude tells us there comes a time when Christians will be made fun of and mocked. (It is happening today.) What are we to do? How are we to meet the rebuffs of worldly people? By living separated lives. Do not be seen in places where worldly things are practiced. Do not compromise with the world. Be faithful in daily Bible reading and prayer and Christian living. Your reward will come.

CONCLUSION — VICTORY ASSURED (Jude 24-25).

Jude tells us that Christ can keep our complete trust in him. He tells us that final victory awaits those who follow Christ. Friend, it is a glorious thing to know that the victory is assured. As you fight the battles of life, just remember that you cannot lose. The crown of victory is already prepared to place on your head. Christ, our Saviour, will award the crown and the victory. Say, friend, it is worth fighting for. Let us remain faithful unto the end.
